

Nicky Shange celebrates Africa Month

iSupport Creative Business and Luthuli Museum present yet another exciting live music concert. The concert will take place at Luthuli Museum in Groutville on Friday 27 May at 6 pm and will feature the phenomenal Nicky Shange. Guests can expect a soulful and jazzy evening with spices of African rhythms in celebration of Africa Month 2022.

Born in Ntuzuma and raised in Inanda and Newlands, Shange sang on local stages until South African music legend Busi Mhlongo spotted her, and this encounter landed Shange as a backing vocalist for Mhlongo. Nicky Shange worked with numerous musicians, including Jonas Gwangwa, Sibongile Khumalo, Themba Mkhize, Thandiswa Mazwai, and Dorothy Masuku, before her solo career took off to greater heights.

Shange is now a seasoned South African vocalist whose name is no stranger to the South African live music culture. This month's end, she is set to bring her pazzaz on stage, together with her band members: Bernard Mndaweni on bass guitar, Sbu Zondi on drums, Lebo Lequoa on keys, Siya Duma on Saxophone, Thabo Skhakhane on trumpet, and Sifiso Cele on backing vocals, known to keep audiences on their toes with her angelic voice and authentic musical signature, you don't want to miss out.

Tickets are R50, available at Webtickets or at the door.
